From the Paris Gazette, dated Oct. 14.

Turin, October 4.

THE 21st of last Month, the Duke of Savoy took on him the Title of King of Sicily. After which his Royal Highness disposed of the vacant Governments, and made several Promotions of Officers. He had offered to Madame Royale his Mother the Regency of his Dominions; but she would not accept it, being unwilling to charge herself with any more Care than that of the Health and Education of the Princes her Grandsons. So he has conferred the Regency on the Prince of Piemont, at the same time nominating the Ministers that are to serve for his Council. He has also regulated the Ceremonial of the Court for the publick and private Functions, commanding that Madame Royale his Mother have the same Honours, except the Upper Hand, as his Consort. They set out the 23d for Villafranca where they are to imbark, being accompanied by a very numerous and very magnificent Court. Madame Royale accompanied them as far as Raconis, and the Princes as far as Limon.

From the Camp before Fribourg, Oct. 2. The Marshal de Villars came back hither the 28th of last Month, after having obliged the Enemy to abandon all the Posts which they possessed in the Mountains, whence the People come in to submit to Contribution. Collonel Ratzki had advanced with his Detachment as far as Dutling on the Left Bank of the Danube, to settle Contributions in the Plain likewise. The Night between the 30th past and the 1st of this Month, the Trenches were opened against the Town by the Count du Bourg with 10 Battallions, in Presence of the Marshal de Villars and of the Prince of Conty. They were carried on by 2500 Workmen within 180 Toises of the Pallisades of the Covered-Way, by favour of a Ridge of high Ground that covered them. There were no more than one Irish Captain of the Regiment of Lee killed with 10 Soldiers, and 2 Officers with some Soldiers wounded. Last Night Men were labouring to perfect the Works. To Day the Besieged made a Sally, but were vigorously repulsed and with Loss. There have been hitherto but about 40 Men killed or wounded, the chief of whom is M. de Beaujeu whose Heel was shot off by a Cannon-Ball. At the same time the Castle on the Mountain is attacked, and against it a Battery of twelve Cannon of twenty four pound Ball, and another of six Mortars, are erected. The Camp is furnished with all Sorts of Provisions, Refreshments, Flesh, and Forrage for a long time, and the Weather is very fair. The Affright is very general among the Inhabitants of the Brisgau and the neighbouring Countries, who fly to Alsace in such great Numbers, that the Governour of Hunninghen has been obliged to shut the Rhine-Gate and make them encamp under the Cannon of the Forts towards Germany, with their Families, Cattle, and Provisions.

The East and West Posts came in here with great Difficulty, and endeavouring to pass the Waters at going from hence, were forced to return, the Waters being unpassable; and several People who endeavoured to go through them were drowned, as were 4 Waggon-Horses, &c. The Town was so surrounded with the Waters, that the Country-People who came hither to Market, went out of Town thinking to pass the Waters; but were forced to come back again, and lodged in Town to the Number of 200 and upwards.
